

Physics of Plasmas

Physics of Plasmas* Editorial Summary Form: Perspective

Perspectives focus on topics of current interest in plasma physics research. Authors writing perspective articles provide an objective and balanced overview of recent advances within the field and, importantly, provide author's unique views on where the field is headed and promising strategies for progress.

Please complete this form and email to pop-journalmanager@aip.org.

Name

Affiliation

Title

Co-authors:

Please include names and affiliations

Brief Summary:

Please provide a short summary describing your perspective and why it will be relevant and timely for the plasma physics community.

Physics of Plasmas

Physics of Plasmas Editorial Summary Form: Perspective

Outline:

Please share the planned manuscript organization you are considering, at this time.

References:

Please list 10 key references that will be discussed in your perspective.

Your relevant publications:

Please highlight your recent work in the field (a few key publications you have authored or co-authored).